Objective:

January 13th, 2022, 11:00 a.m through Google meet we had an Expert Lecture session on “Advanced Android Application Deployment” was conducted by Mr. Vijay S. This program was hosted by Department of MCA, NHCE. It was held for students of MCA – III semester students to get insights on the Android SMS, Maps and publishing your application on Google Play Store.

This was a hands-on session and the concepts and methods were explained for sending and receiving an SMS between two emulators through Android studio, how to display map with a marker pointing to NHCE and how to publish your app to google play store. He explained the two ways to send SMS. It is through SMS Manager Class and intent and even showed setting permissions in Android Manifest file to send and receive SMS.He also explained how to add the mapView to our application.Later he explained how to publish our Android application on the Google Play Store step by step. All this was explained by sharing the screen and codes. Whenever an error was encountered the reason for the error and the explanation to rectify it was also shared.

The session was arranged to explain the major methods in a very clear and understandable way. This session was extremely useful and beneficial as it covered major topics from the syllabus. It was an interactive session, students had already installed android studio in their laptop and were performing exercises simultaneously, which helped in better understanding.

Conclusion:

The session was very effective and helped in understanding how to send and receive SMS along with the working of Maps in our Android application and also how to publish our application on the Google Play Store.
